Community Response Group Meeting a Success!

The first SHCC sub-group is all set up—and each of you can take part in it if you wish, with no obligations involved. The Community Response Group's mission is to mobilize individuals to speak out about matters of interest and importance in our community.

The main method of communication will be the Community Response Group Forum on the SHCC website: <http://www.charlestonshcc.org/member-forums.html#/community-response-group-forum/>. Using this forum, any member can post to inform other members of a public event or issue of concern, along with suggestions for how to individually respond and who to contact. Members can also use this forum for discussion about the issues and responses. As the need arises, the group may organize in-person and/or online meetings to discuss responses to community events and issues, for example, by working together to draft and critique letters.
